1. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are not deemed persuasive. It is not clear whether the claim is directed to a protective disc per se or to the combination of a protective disc and laser or enclosure disc. The preamble of the claim is directed to a disc per se. However, the phrase "said protective disc ... coextensive with the diameter of a laser disc and enclosure disc" in claim 1 is directed to the combination of a protective disc and either a laser disc or enclosure disc. It should be made clear that the claim is directed to a protective disc per se. Applicant can do this by deleting from claim 1 the following phrase --said protective disc having a radially innermost and radially outermost portion coextensive with the diameter of a laser disc and enclosure disc--.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Drew in view of either Downs, Morgan et al or Prusak. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are not deemed persuasive. In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references.

See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986). Drew is cited to show that the use of cotton fabric is well known for protecting compact disc surfaces; see column 1, lines 41-45.

The secondary references are cited to show the claimed annular shape of a protective device for recorded discs. Concerning the discussion of Pelon material, applicant has not disclosed any properties of the cotton material other than it is compressed. The term "compressed" is a process limitation that does not further structurally define the claimed invention over the broad teachings in Drew of cotton fabric.

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
